Contraction Causes Suffering. The New York Tribune has a labored article under the head of "Contraction No Injustice to Debtors." It is an untruthful proposition, and is also unmaintainable. It de- actively. We are surprised at this, because scribes a vicious policy, from which all the we believe that the butchers are especially to panies and pressures in this country have in be benefited by the public staughtering a great degree proceeded, and if the direct- establishments, we do not understand in ors of banks but steadily followed it out in what respect a butcher would profit more by their policy there would be no end to pres- a private slaughter-pen than he would by sures and panics. Importers and People Oppressed. Years ago the Government under which ved was characterized by a steady purpose to promote the welfare of the people at large and to make the burthens of the citizen light. Economy was practiced in Government expenditures, and measures were shaped with tue view of facilitating the pursuits and increasing the gains of the taxpayers. But there has been a sad change. Tyranny and corruption always conspire Heights to the bluff on the west bank, against the interests of the people and combine to promote the comfort and wealth of office-holders and partisan rings, and throw power into the hands of rulers and their especial pets. Look at the South governed with the plain object of gratifying corrupt and thieving partisans at the expense of the substance and the peace of the southern

The quiet and security of the citizen-his protection in his rights-are considered as nothing in the scale against the vulgar partisans and thieves. No matter of right, or comfort, or prosperity has been allowed to protect them from the plundering arts and brutal invasions of the horde sent to prey

When we look to the North the Government has shaped its laws and its administration for the especial benefit of the money and whiskey and other rings, and to the advantage of gold-gamblers. From Credit-Mobilier down it has been thus. The Government vaults are full of gold, and the importers, who pay so much money into the Treasury, and who should have been the objects of sympathy and protection, have been driven out amongst the beasts of the Gold Board to be harried and torn by them until they must feel that the Government under which they live treats them more like strangers than citizens.

The Government fixes its duties and com. pels the importer not only to pay them, but compels him to buy gold at a premium to pay them with. This gold it hoards, and continues the process of forcing the importer to suffer at the hands of the gold-speculator. The Government combine with the goldgambler to skin the importer, and by hoarding gold is placing the importer more and more at the mercy of the gambler. This is not according to the political economists' idea of the duty of Government to the citizen. Its purpose should be to benefit him and throughout the city : not to oppress him. Bad enough, it is made worse when we consider that by this oppres- the ballot-box to resist Papal pretensions in sion gains are thrown into the hands of a controlled, directed, and misled the Democlass of people a long way from being the cracy, and now believes that with her commost meritorious of the different classes of spect military Chanch organizations and by our population.

The Abattoir.

The system of public slaughtering establishments, policed and inspected according to law, is gaining ground in this country. Boston has a very good ont. In New York the question of killing and dressing all meat for market at such establishments has been for some time most earnestly discussed. A party, strange to say, composed largely of butchers, has opposed the proposition most that which is public, unless it be that un-

Our attention is called to the subject just wow because it is under discussion in New York. The reader who has read this paper the vicissitude of liberal discounts one day, for some time knows that the abattoir is the and rigid contraction at another. Another Great Bridge.

This country will become famous above others for its gigantic bridges. Indeed it is already so. Niagara, the Mississippi, the Ohio, and other streams, are spanned by structures that are wonderful, and the admiration of the age. Our readers know that there is now in course of construction a stupendous bridge that unites New York and Brooklyn. And now we have the information that another bridge is projected to span the East river at the head of Blackwell's Island. A company has been organized for its construction, and the money needed bas been raised. It is to cross from Astoria between Seventy-sixth and Seventy-Seventh streets, where the bank is of solid rock sixty or seventy feet high. The west span of the bridge reaching to Blackwell's Island will be 680 feet in length, and the east span, from the island to Astoria Heights will be 575 feet long. The bridge connects with Franklin avenue, Long Island city, which crosses that city from east to west. The avenue is 150 feet wide, with 50 feet of the centre reserved for railway purposes. By this the Long Island railroads can be readily connected with the Fortysecond street defô: in New York.

This great bridge will certainly add largely to the means of commerce, as well as of comfort, of the immense population gathered in New York and Brooklyn and thereabouts. We hardly suppose that anybody dreamed of bridging East river anterior to the fifth decade of this century. This bridge will be finished within two years, by which time, we suppose the grand structure from New York to Brooklyn will be in operation.
